

THE DARK ISSUE

OCTOBER 2021

254

SMALL BUT MIGHTY
Making the most of a tight space through architectural invention

LIQUID GOLD
Tom Dixon turns his creative gaze onto the bathroom

designer

LET THERE BE LIGHT

Banishing darkness with illuminating innovation

INSPIRING
PROJECT
CREATIVITY

"Our clients wanted a multi-functional island which was not only practical but also the centrepiece of the room. I managed to design an L shape island with a dropdown seating area incorporating a cooking zone, a prep zone, a breakfast bar to seat two people, with a wireless charging unit.

"The back of the island served as a dropdown seating area facing the media unit, with the seating including pull storage draws underneath the bench. We also incorporated large pan draws to give the client maximum storage and organisation options. Finally, the gorgeous Silestone calacatta gold worksurface cleverly wraps this beautifully designed island which contrasts against the dark cabinetry while bringing warmth and a touch of luxury to this colour palette."

THE COMPLETE PACKAGE

Feature-packed and flexible, the kitchen often has to fulfil a multitude of roles within a busy household. Shehryar Khan, Director at Sheraton Interiors, explains some of the key features of this eye-catching and highly versatile scheme...

"The pocket door system pantry creates a space where the user can store all of their clutter. However, on opening, they are greeted with beautiful chunky shelves with integrated lighting and a 50mm quartz worksurface. Not only does this space serve as storage, but it also doubles up as a very practical prep station. The pocket door first opens like a normal door but cleverly slides neatly into the wall either side of the cabinet."

"A truly multifunctional hob. We combined a downdraft Neff FlexInduction hob which houses an extractor fan, pairing this with a domino gas hob, giving the chef freedom of choice when cooking."

"The tall run of units also incorporates the very latest Neff N90 multifunction oven with steam feature, a compact oven microwave, and a warming draw, giving the chef the perfect set up to prepare for a family feast. On the cooling front, we housed a separate full height Liebherr fridge and a full height integrated Liebherr freezer with a built-in ice maker, both operated by a motorised push to open system."

"I managed to design this tricky space into a bar area with a stunning Dekton column. The bar features two wine coolers, a 3-in-1 boiling water tap and seating for one. We managed to cleverly mix glass, mirror and wood, contrasted by the rugged Dekton Laurent, topped off with some feature lighting."