HOW TO SPICE UP A NEUTRAL KITCHEN

Shehryar Khan, co-owner of Sheraton Interiors, suggests ways to create depth and richness in a muted kitchen scheme

- 1 Add natural wood in the form of open shelving or a butcher block island to introduce warmth and texture.
- 2 Mix textures – smooth, matt finishes with rough surfaces, such as a stone backsplash with woven bar stools. This will add interest without overwhelming the space with colour.
- 3 Add some statement pieces, such as beautiful pendant lights or a piece of bold artwork to bring in some personality. Plants and herbs in pretty pots will work well to bring life and a touch of colour to the room.
