Westin enters new UK distribution partnership with Sirius hoods

YORKSHIRE-BASED COOKER hood manufacturer Westin has announced it has become the official UK distributor of Italian-owned Sirius hoods.

While Westin will be responsible for distributing Sirius cooker hood products, which are said to offer high-end design technology at a mid-range price point, according to a statement, Sirius will operate its own dedicated website for the UK.

Bruno Canavari, owner of Sirius, said: "We are really pleased and proud about this important partnership. The two companies have known each other for many years and we are convinced that we will have the chance to increase our cooperation more and more. This is a great opportunity for both of us and for the image of the Sirius brand in the UK."

Sirius was founded in Italy's Apennine foothills in 1996, and has been manufacturing kitchen appliances for almost 30 years.

Last year, Westin unveiled a complete redesign of its logo and branded materials, the launch of which coincided with kbb Birmingham 2022.
